

Invitation to Sponsor

Hyatt Regency Atlanta
Atlanta, GA, USA

April 10-15, 2010

CHI 2010 is the premiere worldwide forum for professionals interested in all aspects of human-computer interaction (HCI). The conference features work on the hardware and software engineering of interactive systems, the structure of communication between human and machine, characterization of the use and contexts of use for interactive systems, methodology of design, designs artifacts and experiences, and future technologies.

Conference Format

CHI 2010 is a four-day conference (Monday through Thursday). The conference incorporates CHI Courses and is organized around papers, presentations, speakers and discussions on how to create better interactive experiences. As the foremost conference in its field, CHI 2010 continues to offer a wide-ranging program, supporting and facilitating the exchange of ideas within and between all of these communities.

Who Will be at CHI 2010?

CHI 2010 will bring together computer scientists; design practitioners; human factors and ergonomics professionals; psychologists; social scientists; software developers; software/hardware architects; engineering, product and quality managers; educators and evaluators. These are the professionals who work at the heart of making systems and products usable.

CHI 2010 will be held at the Hyatt Regency Atlanta in Georgia, USA. The theme is We are HCI. There are many exciting ways in which computing can improve life for everyone. CHI 2010 examines the human experience of computing in the world and underscores the commitment of HCI as a profession to empower people from all walks of life.

Atlanta is the home of many influential institutions such as The Carter Center, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), CARE and a wide range of business giants including Coca-Cola and Turner Broadcasting. With over 4 million metro residents, Atlanta offers a wide range of cultural, recreational and entertainment activities, and hosts more than 38 million visitors each year.

Atlanta is also home to many researchers, designers, teachers, artists and practitioners who share a commitment to the human experience of computing; this is evidenced by organizations like Georgia Tech and its GVI Center, SCAD Atlanta, Emory, Spelman College, Turner Broadcasting and CNN, The Carter Center, CARE, CDC, IBM, Philips, Moxie Interactive, Roundarch, Matter, and Big Bang, to name just a few.

If your organization supplies systems or products that involve users interacting with computer technology and the user aspects are important to the success of your product, then this conference will be of special interest to you. CHI 2010 is the place your organization needs to be to learn about leading-edge research and imminent technologies.

CHI 2009 in Boston, Massachusetts, was a very successful conference, hosting almost 2500 attendees representing over 40 countries. CHI 2008 in Florence, Italy, was also highly successful. About 50% of past attendees have worked in the computer industry. The fields of education, research, telecommunications, government, finance and banking have also been well represented. CHI 2010 is expected to be another highly successful conference.

CHI 2010 continues to offer new and exciting opportunities for sponsors. Some of the benefits this year include:

Publicity (External and Internal)

Sponsors are featured on the CHI 2010 Conference web site. Not only is this site one of the most popular ACM sites, but the conference receives worldwide press coverage through various media forms including technical publications. The Advance Program alone is available on our site to more than 50,000 people in the fields of human-computer interaction, human factors, and usability engineering. The Conference Proceedings are also published by ACM Press and distributed globally.

Your sponsorship of this premiere conference is also a strong statement about your organization's commitment to the field of HCI as well as your commitment to the professional development of your staff.

Professional Development

In every economic climate, it is important to wisely utilize the funds you have available for professional development, and CHI 2010 is a wise investment. There is no other conference where there is so much cross-fertilization of ideas between professionals in product design, human factors, software development, systems design, interactive media, and e-business. Added to this mix are research students, educators and the world's best HCI researchers, along with mentors and leading thinkers in the field. This environment creates a unique event where your staff can benefit from unmatched inspiration and education in both breadth and depth. Sponsor invitations to private VIP events also ensure that your staff has special opportunities to mix with the elite of HCI research and practice.

Recruiting, Networking & Business Development

Showcasing your organization through sponsorship increases the awareness of your products and services. Many opportunities are available to sponsors to maximize their efforts in this area. Also, should your organization be interested in hiring, your presence as a sponsor will enhance your efforts to recruit from among the foremost experts in the field. CHI 2010 also offers dedicated on-site support for the recruitment efforts of its sponsors.

Monday Evening Grand Opening of Exhibits and Reception

CHI 2010 is hosting the conference reception on Monday evening at 6:30 pm (18:30) in the exhibit hall during the grand opening of the exhibits. Live entertainment, sweet and savory offerings, and the company of friends and colleagues create this memorable evening. Networking is effortless at this gala event attended by all conference registrants. As a special benefit to our Champion sponsors, a complimentary exhibit booth is included in the Champion Sponsor Benefits.

Tuesday Evening Job Fair

To support recruiting in this challenging economic environment, CHI 2010 features a Job Fair on Tuesday evening from 6:00 to 8:00 pm. Recruiters renting booths are invited to take advantage of this key event to meet qualified job candidates. CHI 2010 will also facilitate the delivery of resumes from individuals to a designated contact and help coordinate places for interviewing and hospitality events. Space is limited, so please indicate your interest in hosting an event as soon as possible. Recruiters confirmed by deadlines listed in the Exhibit Events Schedule will appear in CHI 2010 publications and on the web site.

Please see the CHI 2010 Hero Sponsor Benefits, CHI 2010 Champion Sponsor Benefits, and CHI 2010 Contributing Sponsor Benefits for details about these and the many other advantages of sponsoring.
